Indiana Not a Doubtful State by a Long Shot. "Thirty-day Poll Shows It Is Republican.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

"HICAGO, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Republican managers took Indiana out of the doubtful column today and anchored it in the McKinley row. What is known in politics as the "thirty-day poll" has been completed in the Hoosier State, and it shows that Indiana will give a larger Republican majority in November than it did in 1896, when McKinley carried the State by more than 18,000.

The "thirty-day poll" is a canvass made thirty days before the election. Henry C. Payne, vicechairman of the Republican National Committee, made the assertion that Indiana is no longer doubtful, while Senator Hanna sat across the room and nodded assent.

The claiming of Indiana is the best possible proof that the Republicans are confident of victory November 6. The State always has been a puzzle in Presidential campaigns, for the fight has been close, and neither party has been certain of carrying it until the votes were counted.

Since 1872, Indiana has alternately been in the Republican and Democratic columns in Presidential years. In 1872 it went Republican; in 1876, Democratic; in 1880, Republican; in 1884, Democratic; 1888, Republican; 1892, Democratic, and in 1896, Republican.

According to the custom, Indiana should go Democratic this year, but the Republicans say it is now brought from Indiana today by Postmaster-General Charles Emory Smith, who called at headquarters and said the Hoosiers will give their 15 electoral votes to McKinley and Roosevelt.

They champion them still, but they don't dare argue about them, and they sought to make a new issue, and that issue is the dishonor of the American flag. And already they realize that their choice of a paramount issue was unfortunate; that the people stand loyal now as they stood loyal, when, in 1864, Republicans and Democrats stood shoulder to shoulder and upheld Abraham Lincoln. And already they are shifting their issues; already they recognize what a hollow sham it is to talk about imperialism, and now they are doing the worst of evil deeds in a republic—preaching the doctrine of envy. are doing the worst of evil deeds in a republic—preaching the doctrine of envy, of class hatred, striving to stir up brother against brother, section against section, class against class. SHAMOKIN (Pa.) Oct. 11.—Forty SHAMOKIN (Pa.) Oct. 11.—Forty delegates from Springfield, Locust Gap and Mount Carmel left here for Scranton this evening, accompanied by a few from this place. By morning it is expected by President Fahey of the Ninth District that the full delegation, from Northumberland, Schuylkill, Columbia and Dauphin counties will be in the convention hall. The Lykens Valley men will demand the 10 per cent. Increase, semi-monthly pay and the price of powder reduced, the latter not to come out of the advance in wages. The Shamokin Valley men also want the same, together with the abolishing of the Reading's sliding scale wages. The Shamokin Valley men also want the same, together with the abolishing of the Reading's sliding scale and recognition of the union. The Centralia and Schuylkill delegates will make their greatest fight for the abolishment of the sliding scale.

Everything remains Trevorten, Shamokin and Mount Carmel. It is generally believed by miners here that the convention will not end the strike, the miners fearing that the operators will not even guarantee the 10 per cent. increase for one year. If they do not, the Shamokin men say they will remain away from the mines all winter.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WILKESBARRE, October 11.—The Wilkesbarre assemblies of the United Mine Workers held meetings and instructed the delegates to the Scranton convention to insist on the following demands:

First—Recognition of the union.
Second—Powder reduced to $1.50.
Third—Ten per cent, general advance.
Fourth—Two weeks' pay,
Fifth—Check docking boss.
Sixth—Contract signed by the companies agreeing to the above to hold good for a year.
The instruction of the delegates comes in the nature of a surprise, as it was expected that they would be allowed to use their own judgment after taking their seats in the convention and learning the sentiments of the other delegates.

President Mitchell's speech at Scranton yesterday in which he stated that the tem per cent, increase in wages offered by the companies was not enough, no doubt influenced the strikers in the Wyoming valley to a more or less extent.

THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A dispatch to the Times from Paris asys the British general election is exciting a good deal of interest and comment in continental Europe. The opinion is universal that it is a personal triumph for Chamberlain, and that if he becomes predominant in the British government:
an era of asgression and thegolam to prove his complicity in the Jameson raid, and that he makes no denial of his connection with firms that have grown rich on the war, increases the distrust of him. Moreover, a good many Transvalers, exiled by order of the British government from Johannesburg and Pretoria, are arriving in Europe, and the stories they tell of British brutality and arbitrariness also adds to the flames. Never before, perhaps, was Great Britain regarded with so much suspicion as at present.

RECASTING OF CABINET. RECASTING OF CABINET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says the opinion is gaining ground that Parliament will not assemble for effective work before the end of January. This interval will allow Lord Salisbury leisure for recasting the Cabinet and deciding various questions relating to South Africa.

A report that Lord Cromer has been summoned to England is probably well founded He has been spoken of in usually well-informed quarters as the new member of the Cabinet, and certainly his inclusion would greatly strengthen the government. There are more unlikely things than that he should be appointed to succeed Lord Lansdowne at the War Office.

It is said Mrs. Leroy's first experience has made her dread wedded existence and that when Joe Leiter recently proposed on the Chicago golf links, she shrugged her shoulders and said may. Rumor says Leiter proposed an elopement to Milwaukse, and the lady then prepared to escape to Paris with her mother. Bryan spoke to them for about twenty minutes, and was then driven hurrisely to an immense circus tent where he spoke to many thousands of both sexes. Bryan. "I thought there would be some North Carolina man here and so I brought a builetin issued by the government under this administration and therefore I know it must be right. It was issued August 29, and when you people worry about the educational qualifications in North Carolina, I want you to know that your own administration has fixed an educational qualification for voters in Forto Rico and, according to this builetin, only 17 per cent. of the negroes of voting age in Porto Rico and, over the educational qualifications fixed by your President. And, my friends, remember that in the South the educational qualification does not take from the man the protection of the Constitution.

BATTLE CREEK (Mich.,) Oct. 11.—
Bryan made the first speech of the day at Hastings, beginning at 7:15 o'clock a.m., and notwithstanding the early houn he had a good audience. He talked largely of imperialism, saying that the Pilipinos should have their own fiag, which we should help to protect. They should be allowed to work out their own destiny as we desired to be allowed to work out ours.

The second speech was at Nashville, where for five minutes Bryan suggested a series of questions to Republicans. These were as follows:

"If the trust is a good thing, why did the Republican platform denounce trusts?

"If the trust is a head thing."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Political folks here—Democrats and Republicans alike—see something significant in the fact that Bryan answered Assistant Sec, retary of War Meiklejohn's letter about the Sulu treaty so promptly. Other men in the government service have "jumped on" Bryan and he has paid no attention to them, but Meiklejohn is a candidate for the United States Senate from Nebraska, and is just leaving Washington to go ap there and attend to his canvass. This is why Bryan took issue with him so quickly.

at $40,000 a year, Edwin Hawley said today:

"I would not take $40,000 a year and leave New York. It is not true that the place has been offered to me, anyway. I would not accept the presidency of the Southern Pacific. I would rather stay here. The matter of the presidency is in the hands of the Monetory Committee, of which C. H. Tweed is chairman. The committee has not selected anyone for the office yet; when it does it will report to the governing board. I have no idea who will get the presidency."

Mr. Hawley is now fourth vice-president of the Southern Pacific Company, and president of the Minneapoils and St. Louis and of tive Iowa Central railroads, as well as director in numerous other roads.

lege year, going to Chicago next September.

Prof. Jameson was born near Boston, September 19, 1839; was graduated from Amherst twenty years later, and took the degree of doctor of philosophy at Johns Hopkins in 1832. His aimamater conferred the degree of LL.D., upon him two years ago. He has been associated with the Department of History at Brown since 1888, and has developed courses there second to none in the world. He is the author of a number of standard works.

Dr. Jameson will succeed Prof. von Holst as head of the department of history at the University of Chicago. Von Holst is now in Europe on account of ill health. If he recovers sufficiently to resume work, it is expected that he will continue as professor at the university. As head of the department, WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The Comptroller of the Currency has completed an abstract of the reports of the condition of all the national banks in the United States at the close of business. September 5, 1900.

The summary shows that the aggregate individual deposits 13,507,348,557. A comparison of these figures with the condition June 29, 1900, the date of the previous call, shows that during the period between June and September there was an increase of 343,247,438 in loans and discounts and 493,155,239 in individual deposits.

The number of banks reporting on June 29 was 3732, and the number reporting on September 5 was 3373, and increase of 140. The work of compiling the returns from the mutual savings institutions of the country has recently been completed, which shows that during the year ended June 26, 1900, the aggregate resources of these institutions has increased 5185,745,039; the deposits in the banks have rises in amount from 51,960,709,121 on June 36, 1899, to $2,134,471,130 on June 36 of the current year, an increase of $172,762,-998.

CARRIER'S LLABILITIES.

P. Q. D.—The matter of contracts with common carriers opens a vast seld. In regard to baggage and goods in transportation, and as to what constitutes baggage, the law is sometimes peculiar. Formerly it was the rule in Massachusetts that a husband could recover for the loss of his wife's clothing in transportation, while she could not on the ground that his wife and her belongings were his. This is not the law anywhere.

As to what constitutes baggage, the California Supreme Court has held that the implied contract of a railroad company to carry baggage includes only such a quantity of articles as are ordinarily taken by a passenger for his personal use and convenience, according to the habits or wants of the particular class to which he belongs, either with reference to the immediate necessities or to the ultimate purpose of the journey. (Mets. va. California, etc., R. R. Co., S. Cal., 139; Mack's Dig. Am. St. Reports, 1-2s, p. 292, 46.) This case decides also that a gentleman passenger traveling without his wife or other female companion is not, ordinarily, no matter what his station in life, entitled to carry as baggage for his personal use or convenience a quantity of lady's lewelry; and if he does carry it and it is lost, he cannot recover therefor from a carrier who has no knowledge of he being among the contents of a trunk carried as merchandise or the like; or stare properties, costumes, paraphernulia and advertising matter of a theatrical company. And a railroad company is not ilable for the loss of such articles as baggage.

Sopretimes railroad companies attempt to limit their liabilities at com-

CONTRACT IMPLIED PROM BILENCE.

D. W.—Whatever the law necessarily implies in a contract is as much a part of it as if expressely stated therein. But, although circumstances may exist which will impose contractual obligation by mere silence, yet such circumstances are exceptional in their character and of rare occurrence; and no legal liability can arise out of the mere silence of the party sought to be affected, unless he was subject to a duty of speech, which was neglected, to the harm of the other party.

MISTAKE.

S. P.—A mistake sh to the existence or identity of the subject matter of a contract is fatal to the contract ties, because of the want of the necessary mutual assent. But to produce this result, the mistake must be one which affects the existence or identity of the subject matter of a first into the crowd. Sullivalent and assent is put to produce this result, the mistake must be one which affects the existence or identity of the subject matter of a first into the crowd. Sullivalent is not sufficient if the thing delivered is existent and is the identical thing in kind which was sold. (147 Mass., 135.)

CONSIDERATION OF CONTRACT.

W.M.T. To constitute a valid consideration for a promise, it is not necessary for the promisor to be benefited or or to the ultimate purpose of the journer, Nets vs. California, etc., R.R. Co., 85 Cal. 139; Mack's Dig. Am. St. Reports, 1-24, p. 252, 60.) This case decides also that a gentleman passenger traveling without his wife or other female companion is not, ordinarily, no matter what his station in life, entitled to carry as baggage for his personal use or convenience a quantity of lady's jewelry; and if he does carry it and it is lost, he cannot recover therefor from a carrier who has no knowledge of it being among the contents of a trunk carried as baggage.

And baggage does not include that which is carried for the purpose of business, such as merchandise or the like; or stage properties, costumes, paraphernalia and advertising matter of a theatrical company. And a railroad company is not liable for the lors of such articles as baggage, such as specifically accepted them as baggage.

Sometimes railroad companies attempt to limit their liabilities at common law by printing stipulations on their bilis of lading. This cannot be done. Nor can they stipulate, even by express contract, that they shall not be liable, or that they shall only be partly liable for consequences of their own negligence. In no case can a carrier by special contract free himself from liability for loss or damage occasioned by his negligence, or that of his servants.

However, in general, a carrier may True, the Keene and Woltines of the finest strings and the seen in California this winter, but Sam Hikireth, who has one of the finest strings that ever reced on New Tork tracks, will ship his strings about October E.

"I believe mine and better horses will race in California this winter than ever before," said Hildreth this afternoon. "I shall take a dozen of my best cones, and sell the balance. I have about thirty in training now. I shall probably take along Maximo Gomes, Trillo, Maximus, Autumn, Gibraltar, Vulcan, Mechana, Wooster Boy, Gonfalos, Tusamon, Golden Edge and one or two others."

Jockey Bullman, the California boy whose success in the East this year hesp placed him in the front ranks, will do Hildreth's riding in California. Bullman is now drawing down the salary of a rallroad president; has his valet, and will take that annex with him to Cali sentiment on this subject. Sir Thomas may be assured of the best of treatment over here, and if he wins the cup it could not be in better hands."

"Will some one build a new yacht to defend the cup?" said Chester Griswold. "Well, it is rather early to talk about that, but I should think it likely, Americans are not in the habit of using old things if they can have better; they are too enterprising. There would be no difficulty about raising money for a new defender, if it is decided to build one."

very well that natural laws govern the distribution of freight, even if artificial conditions do control its transportation. It is well enough to remember that a system of protected connection rates are necessary to the rapid and equitable transportation of perishable fruit, and that the present system would not stand a day unless supported by a mutuality of interests among all the railroads. Transportation abuses should be opposed by every one, but nothing is gained by advocating measures that would work havoor upon an industry if they could be applied.

I have the state of a freight pool, for it knows year to destruction; and the time has come, if we would preserve our homes, gardens and orchards, when every inhabitant of Southern California must unit in combined action to impress on the government the immediate necessity of a scientific scheme of forestry vision.

The first step to such a scheme would be the replanting of the foothill district, which at the commencement must be largely experimental, as knowledge gained in eastern or European forestry schools, both as regards selection of trees, planting and caring for them, is of little use in this climatic belt, unless confirmed by two or three years' study of our needs and conditions.

place a battleship on each side of and just inside the mouth of the harbor, so as to be concealed from incoming vessels. Here, with decks cleared for action, batteries trained forward and full steam up, the New York and the Vicksburg lay in wait, ready to fire into and ram any venturesome member of the Squadron. Picket boats armed with rapid-fire guns and sharpshooters were provided with a system of signals to warn all hands of the approach of the enemy, and powerful searchlights at Fort Greble and other points insured protection at night. The general plan followed by all vessels was not to turn on searchlights until the approach of a torpedo boat was reported by a picket boat.

The plan of placing picket boats was very successful, and not a single torpedo boat got beyond them without being reported. With a sufficient number of searchlights on shore, it is doubtful if vessels could be piloted at night into a harbor which is at all difficult of entrance. The bow wave and wake of torpedo boats was the first object that aided in picking them up in the darkness.

Pen Pictures of the Soldiers of the Several Nations --- The American the Best --- Political Plot of a Yellow Journal.

BY J. MARTIN MILLER. [SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PEKING (China,) Sept. 1, 1990.—
Russia and Japan have each more troops in Peking and North China, of course, than any other powers, It is thought here that the official reports of those two countries as to the number of soldiers each actually has in North China are deceptive and that they have many more troops here than they desire to have known. There is a growing feeling here among American and British officers that an unexpected friendliness is developing between the Russian and Japanese officers. Certain it is that Japan has set herself out to demonstrate to the world her evidency.

THE AMERICAN SOLDIER. many more troops here than they de-sire to have known. There is a grow-ing feeling here among American and British officers that an unexpected friendliness is developing between the Russian and Japan has set herself out to demonstrate to the world her coldists more favorable impression than any other nation.

In this most cosmopolitan military community the world has ever seen Japan's army is the admiration of every army officer and every civilian, regardless of nationality. Of all the soldiers on the great march to Peking the Japanese, both officers and men, stood the heat and deprivations far better than any other army. The American and British soldiers were strewn all along the route, exhausted from the heat. The Japanese soldier needs only a little bit of rice for subsistence; he will wade through the mud in his white uniform, yet somehow he soon appears with the soiled clothes as neat and clean as can be. He wears a white cap gets only three yen (31.50) a month. He receives personally only one-third of that salary, the balance going to his family.

The Japanese soldier never fails to salute the officer of any army, whether he is on duty or not. He even ealutes civilians after the military fashion, and he does it so gracefully. The discipline of the Japanese army approaches perfection, more nearly than any other army in China.

RUSSIAN SOLDIER CONDEMNED.

The Russian soldier has all the appearance of a brute, and he is a brute. He has committed outrages against helpless Chinese women; has made helpless coolies pay money or be shot. They have shot some down for sport and then split themselves with laughter at the performance. The Russian soldier is ignorant and cowardly. Of the soldiers of all the great powers the Russian enlisted man is the least manly and the least soldierly. At the siege of Tien-Tsin the Russian was the first to talk about retreating when the first for the cher allies. The British came to their support and saved them from a diagraceful breakdown.

The very unfavorable appearance put up by the rank and file of the Russian army is a disappointment. Their uniforms and caps were white once, but now are the color of fifth where you happen to see them. We naturally look upon Russia as one of the greatest of military powers, whose chief pride is in her strength at arms. The Russian is the pooreet fed and the poorest paid soldier in China. There is a wider guil between officer and soldier in the Russian army than in any other, probably. The officers are well paid and live on the best. They have no thought and no care for the welfare of the men. Is it any wonder then that they are lacking in soldierly qualities?

THE FRENCH SOLDIERS.

AN ARMY OF SOLDIERS. The Germany army is con The Germany army is comprised of soldiers, every man of them, as nearly as can be. In parade they show up to wonderful advantage. They are called awkward and crude by some officers: awkward and crude by some officers. This may look so as they march along in their heavy boots with hard step, but in reality they are one of the best disciplined armies represented hero. Their power of endurance is great, as has been shown in their long marches to Peking, a regiment at a time. They have stood the heat much better than the Americans and British, the Russians or the French. The German soldier has substantial food, and may be said to be well clothed. They are will-behaved and orderly.

GREAT BRITAIN'S FORCES. The most unique soldiers here are Great Britain's Indians. They are tall, athletic and fine-looking, although as Great Britain's Indians. They are tall, athletic and fine-looking, although as black as the native African. Their clothing consists of a bolt of brown cloth wrapped about them in a neat fashion, and turbahs on their heads. They have been well drilled and salute the officers regardless of nationality. Great Britain has made a great display of her native Indian troops (mostly Sikhs) from India. At last accounts she had 6000 in North China, and a transport-load arriving nearly every week.

TRAIN THAT PASSED BY-

Conductor Locked Up in Mexican Jail.

Arrested on Charge of Manslaughter.

Ortiz Convicted of Murdering Moffatt-Nogales's Push. Arizona News.

NOGALES (Aris.,) Oct. 8.—[Regular Correspondence.] Conductor Bonsail of the Sonora Railway has been in jail in Magdalena for several weeks, charged with mansiaughter, in that he pushed a Mexican from his train when Mexican authorities permitted Bonsall to continue on northward with his train, to be apprehended at Nogales, Sonora. It happened, very oddly, that the train got from under the control of the engineer about the time it was approaching the usual stopping point at the Mexican customhouse, in Mexican Nogales, and shot across the border, thus taking Bonsall into the land of the free, safe and sound. The trick was very pleasant till Engineer Shannhan, on his next trip south, was taken from his locomotive and incarcerated for monkeying with the sovereign power of the Mexican republic. Then Conductor Bonsall walked acress the international line and substituted himself in prison for his friend, the engineer. Mrs. Bonsall and a number of Nogales friends, visited the Magdalena

He is also doing some observing on his own account. It is no uncommon sight to see on the streets of Peking or Tien-Tsin groups with two or more each of American, Russian, Japanese, East Indians, French, Germans, Railens, etc., all laughing and jabbering away, not one of whom can understand the others. The American soldier is the most intelligent the most self-reliant and the most independent soldier in the world. None have the courage of the American soldier. But he has his faults. He is coreless about saluting officers when he "doesn't have to." He will let an officer of another srmy pass right by him as if he were a nobody. This matter has caused our soldiers to be severely criticised by the other nationalities here. They say: "Why don't your Americans discipline your men?" But this isn't the worst fault of our boys. They are the best paid of any soldiers in the world. In fact, they have too much to spend. It would be better if they received less pay, for they want to drink all the vile stuff and sample all the vices of the different countries they visit, and money puts these vices within their reach.

A New York yellow journal has just photographed two or three drinking dens in Tien-Tsin, and is going to print these photographs with an elaborate account of the American enroy canteen in China and how this "awful institution" is supplying the soldiers of all nations with American intoxicants. This, I understand, is to be printed as a great sensation in the shape of an attack on the administration just a week or two before election day.

These plottures will appear as reproduced photographs with the sign at actions with American intoxicants. This, I understand, is to be printed as a great sensation in the shape of an attack on the administration just a week or two before election day.

These plottures will appear as reproduced photographs with the sign at aching the most deadly stuff called whisky, and beer and all kinds of vile native drinks, will undoubtedly be looked after by the recently organised provisio FULL OF ENTERPRISE.

ATHLETE'S FAILURE Was not a Success Until He Was Put on the Right Food.

any athlete, or in fact, of any person who cares for good, sturdy, powerful health.

"Up to about 18 months ago I had been in many athletic contests, without much success. I about made up my mind it was time to stop, but a physical director of the Y. M. C. A. of this city advised me to use Grape-Nuts food and Postum Cereal Coffee as principal factors in my diet.

"I accepted the advice and today am in possession of perfect health, and a great many medals won in different athletic events. I can now run a race and finish in fine condition, whereas before I started on the right diet, I would find myself in a fannt at the end of a race.

"Formerly I had more or less nervous troubles and severe headaches. I am glad to say since using Grape-Nuts and Postum Food Coffee I have forgotten what a headache feels like. My heart is in perfect condition, whereas while I was using ordinary coffee it would not stand the heavy strain. This statement is absolutely true, and I do not object to your publishing it, for it may bring back health and strength to some poor being suffering from ill health, caused by the use of improper food."

There is a reason for this; in the first place, ordinary coffee will show its effects somewhere in the nervous system—frequently in weakening of the heart or in stomach troubles, which prevents one from obtaining the strength and value of food. It is therefore necessary to quit the use of this drug, and in its place use Postum Cereal Pood Coffee and Grape-Nuts food.

They were both invented by a food expert and are made at the famous pure-food factories of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., at Battle Creek, Mich. This food and the food drink are both made for a definite purpose, and there are thousands of users throughout the world that can testify, from practical experience, that the theory is borne out by the facts. Galveston relief fund. The returns are not yet in, but it is certain that a substantial sum was realised for the storm sufferers. In the afternoon there was a baseball game at Wheelmen's Park between the "Fats" and the "Leans," which was preceded by a march down town by the contesting nines, arrayed in fantastic costumes, and headed by a "Rube" band.

In the evening, from 4 to 8 o'clock, high tea was served at Pythian Hall. Beginning at 5:30, there was a continuous programme of music, recitations, etc. Both the ball game and the tea were liberally patronized.

HORTICULTURAL CLUB. Riverside Horticultural Club was held ast evening at the residence of J. W. Covert, on East Eighth street. Miss Willard gave some musical selections. Fred Reed gave an entertaining ac-count of his observations of European methods of raising oranges and other products, which was followed by an interesting discussion concerning the exchange, whether or not it affords the growers the best system for marketing their fruit.

he was sure of his men, and in another place that he was "not sure—and wouldn't swear to it."

Frazier, however, averred an absolute intention to tell nothing but the truth, as he knew it; if there had been variations in his accounts, they were not willful. His testimony and that of Dr. Forline were very similar.

TOOM TESTIFIES.

TOOM TESTIFIES.

Rufus Toom, who lives on Twentyfourth street adjoining the Grafenstein home, in front of which the shooting occurred, then took the stand and testified that on the night of June 2 he was aroused by cries of murder and two pistol shots, after he had gone to bed. He rushed outside immediately, but saw nobody making an escape, and, after Breckenridge was taken to his home, went inside again.

The next morning he went out early and saw spots of blood on the sidewalk. It was Toom who found the fiattened builet about seventy feet from the blood stains.

Witness fixed the time at about 9:15 p.m. He was sure that Breckenridge shouted "murder" several times after he was shot.

DRUGGIST'S TESTIMONY.

M. V. Brown, proprietor of the drug store at the corner of Washington and Bush streets, was the next witness.
His residence is at No. 224 Budlong avenus.

Witness was Breckenridge's employer

His residence is at No. 2224 Budlong syenue.

Witness was Breckenridge's employer at the time of his death,

"What time did Breckenridge leave your store on the night of June 2?" asked Deputy District Attorney McComas,

"Between 8;82 and 8, on foot," answered the witness,

"Did you go with him?"

"No,"

"Did you go with him?"
"No,"
"What time did you next see him?"
"At his residence after the shooting, about 11 o'clock."
"What was his condition?"
"In what way?"
"Well, did he recognize you?"
"Yes, he recognized me at once,"
"How long did you remain with him?"
"Until about 1 o'clock."
"When did you next see him?"
"About noon the next day."

WATHON WAS MERVOUS.

"What was Watson's demeanor just at this time?"

The attorneys had a long spat about whether this question should be answered or not. The court overruled all objections.

"Why," said the witness, "Watson kept clinching his hand nervously and winced very noticeably when Breckenridge's eyes fell upon him."

Then Brown was cross-examined.

"Wasn't there further conversation after he first recognized the defendants?" asked Attorney Rogers.

"Yes, sir."

"You weren't asked by the District Attorney to give the rest of it, then were you?"

"No, sir."

"Well, relate it."

"Breckenridge aroused himself, and Watson then asked him to be sure about his identification, and then Breckenridge said he couldn't swear to anything."

"Well, Mr Brown, would it be unusual for an innocent man to behave with nervous twitches and otherwise if he were taken before a dying man and accused of murder?"

"Tm not competent to answer."

THE WIDOW'S STORY.

The feature of the afternoon session was the appearance of Mrs. W. J. Breckenridge, the surviving widow, on the stand. She was dressed in black and could scarcely keep back the tears as she testified. She is a slender, little woman, apparently with all the hopes of life crushed out of her.

"You were the wife of W. J. Breckenridge, who was shot on June 3, were you not?" asked Deputy McComas.

"You were at home that night, were you?"

Tes, sir," was the resigned reply.

"You were at home that night, were you?"

"Yes, sir,"

"What time was it when he was brought home?"

"About 10 o'clock, I guess."

"When did he die?"

"About 4 o'clock the next day."

"Mre. Breckenridge, were you present when Watson was taken into your husband's presence the next morning?"

"Yes, sir,"

"Just tell what your husband said on that occasion,"

"Watson was brought in, and the doctor aroused my husband, and he looked around and said. Yes, that's the man, he's the one who held me up last night."

The little woman's sad testimony was very similar to that of Dr. Porline,
When Mrs. Breckenridge was cross-examined she admitted that she was excited at the time of her husband's conversation that morning and that some of his words may have escaped her.

After being reminded of it she remembered that her husband had said that he wouldn't swear to his identification of Waison.

Following Mrs. Breekenridge, J. Clinton Johnson, a fireman stationed at the Jeffersen-street en in-house, testified that on the sight of June 3, about 235 o'clock, he saw two men—one "tall," ond "short"—going west on Jefferson, apparently toward the scene of the shooting. He could not describe them in detail.

A BIT OF DELAY.

At this point a delay of almost half

"My wife called my attention to it."
This made the spectators laugh. The wife had told him it was a preity time for him to be coming home to supper—and in that way he remembered the time.

"What time did you leave Watson that night?"

"Just about 9:30 o'clock."

"Which way did Watson go?"

"Towards his home."

"Did Murray stay all night with you?"

"I want to tell you," said Mrs. Day, when talking of her committee's work in Chinatown, "of an interesting time we had when we took eighty of these women and children out to Echo Park for a picnic. There were fifty children and thirty women, and some of the latter had not been out of their house for four years. We had to furnish covered carriages and women drivers or their husbands would not let them go, and we had a hard time to find enough drivers. In making his report from the Committee on Sabbath Observance, Rev. E. Cash propounded the following flag question:

"What can we do with the Sunday newspaper?"

Mr. Cash surveyed the broad field and found some things to edmire in the Snuday paper. He also made a discovery;

"The newspapers are not fin the business men would refuse to advertise in it it would soon disappear."

LOVE OF LUCRE.

THE LEARNED NAVAJO.

Rev. H. P. Case, Sunday-school missionary, was an interesting speaker and told in a quaint way many experiences. He traveled over 14,000 miles in the nine counties in his district during the year. In his travels through the mountains he found a Navajo Indian who could speak English. He heard the Indian coming down a trail calling musically to a train of pack mules, and Mr. Case repeatedly gave the half song, half cry of the Indian, much to the delight of the audience.

"In the midst of this," said Mr. Case, "I was suddenly startled by hearing: 'Get in there, you blankety blank!' He had somewhere come in contact with American civilization."

The second day of the Homeopathic Medical Convention opened at 10 o'clock, with the bureau of clinatology and hygiene. Dr. Willelia Howe read a paper upon "The Santa Ana Valley and its Diseases." It showed that up to ten years ago disease was rare in that section, and that its limited presence since has been due to the influx of invalids, for whom the location is favorable.

SNOOKERS' PARADISE.

Debris on the Circus Ground Picked Over-How a Fa' Man Got Out of the Crowd..

Street pickers' paradise yesterday was the vacant lot where the circus tents stood. All day long small boys and old women with market baskets, snooked in the débris.

Their labors were rewarded. One old woman got a basket nearly full of plunder. There were hat pins and side combs, and the frames of scorched Japanese lanterns, and even money. Some of the circus reminiscences pressing him away from the door. In desperation, he pretended to faint. He threw up his hands and keeled over on the man behind him. But it was only a feint, that faint.

Two of three grabbed him up and with a gigantic struggle, managed to carry him out to the air. The crowd, in pity, gave way. When they got to the outskirts, the fat man calmly stood up and thanked his bearers with elaborate courtesy; then marched triumphantly into the tent.

On the last night, as the crowd was smothering for the ticket booth, there was a sudden cry of "fight!" The crowd broke for the superior attraction, and two bright young men took advantage of the little stampede, to buy their tickets. Of course, there was no fight.

The jams about the ticket window were something fearful. It was not an uncommon occurrence for a man to get his hand and money within an inch of the ticket window, only to be hurled back twenty feet by a sudden surge of the crowd. One boy in this process had his coat and shirt sleeves torn to ribbons.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Credit to Whom Credit is Due.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the telegraphic account in yesterday's paper of the sham battle of the British fleet in the Mediterranean, Lord Charles Beresthe sham battle of the British fleet in the Mediterranean, Lord Charles Beresford is written up as the "hero of the Alexandria bombardment, who ran the Condor right under the guns of the Egyptian fort and battered it to atoms at close range." This is not the first time I have seen the credit of this gallant act given to Lord Beresford. Allow me to correct the mistake of the cable correspondent. Lord Beresford does not claim this himself. He willingly ascribes the credit of it to Capt. Ceoil Whist, who was really the hero of the occasion. It was by the order of Capt. Whist that the Condor was run in close and silenced those forts. Lord Beresford presented to Capt. Whist a handsome pin, having on it the signal, "Well done, plucky Condor." This was the signal which was run up at the fight praising the Condor for her gallant act. I have seen both the pin and he admiralty letters signifying that Capt. Whist was the hero. Capt. Whist was my brother-in-law. Yours, etc.

There was little or no snap to the trading on the floor of the Los Angeles Oil Exchange yesterday.

Bouthern Consolidated alone was the feature, and it was only fairly active. It opened bearish at 31½ cents, a quarter of a cent below the closing price Wednesday. From that figure it went to 20½ cents, where it closed. In all, only 4300 shares were represented in the transactions.

Only 100 shares of Westlake changed hands. The price paid was 30 cents a share, a decline of 1½ cents.

Reed Crude was strong at 52 cents, while Fullerton Oil was fairly active at 16 cents.

South of the latter company the Honest Abe Oil Company has found land to its liking. Next to it the Lucky Star will begin drilling.

On the south of the Hiawatha Oil Company the Blue Rock Company has acquired several sections, and is making arrangements to begin work.

Some time since Mr. Scherman filed a location on a certain piece of land in the reighborhood of San Jacinto, built a sawmill and immediately commenced to turn the pine trees into sheckels for his purse. Unfortunately for Scherman his prayer for the location of the land was not granted, but instead it was thrown into the government forest reserve, and he received notice to vacate and pay for the timber cut. A civil suit was some time since filed against him by the government to recover the amount supposed to be due.

But Anton Scherman is said to have decided to "buck" Uncle Sam, paid no attention to the suit, and, it is alleged, went right on with business and kept the sawdust flying at the mill. Yesterday the grand jury interposed, indicted him for unlawfully cutting timber on the government reserve. He was arraigned, pleaded not guilty, gave bond and his trial was set for the 25th inst.

THE CHINESE SITUATION.
The reply of the United States government to the French note relative was made public yesterday. The text of the communication is given in Washington dispatches to The Times this morning. It is brief and to the point. It agrees in substance with the forecasts beretofore given in Washington dispatches, and closes with the expressed hope that negotiations may be

A Chinese report says that on October 6 the Emperor and Empress Dowager were at Chau Ching, 150 miles southwest of Tai Yuan Fu. After resting a day, according to the Chinese report, "the imperial party proceeded with

According to a dispatch from Tien-Twin, "a military order has been issued to the German troops to occupy the railroad from Yang-Tsin to Peking. The rest of the road will be occupied by the Russians, and the harbor of Ching Wan Toa has been allotted to the British."

The whole of Latin America was to be represented at this congress. Portugal, it is said, has been quite as active in the organization as Spain, fearing that her large colonial possessions might share the fate of her neighbor's, and both Italy and France have given the movement their warm approval. Indeed, it is said that France is ambitious to assume the position for which some of her rulers in bygone years have striven, as the leader of an organization of the Latin powers.

The above-mentioned dispatch also mays that it is understood that Field Marshal Count You Waldersee refused to acknowledge Li Hung Chang's visit on Friday. You Waldersee will go to Peking in a few days.

A Bertin dispatch cites a dispatch said to have been received by the German Navy Loague, to the effect that the situation in South China is exceedingly critical. The dispatch says that Chang Weh Hong, who advised the Empress further asserted that many Chinese have been decapitated at Chin Kiang, America, and to a lesser extent between France, Spain, Italy and Portugal in Europe, it will never be possible to unite these taces for one purpose, it is pointed out that thirty years age, just before the outbreak of the France-German war, there existed fully an great animosity and jealousy between the small German States, and it was upon this that Napoleon chiefly counted in opening his disastrous campaign. In face of the common enemy, however, all these differences melted away like the mist before the sun, and France found herself face to face with a united Germany. We may possibly see the same thing among the Latin races, should some event transpire that happens to closely touch the feelings of those impulsive peoples. UNCLE SAM AT PARIS.

Such instances as these might be multiplied almost indefinitely. There are honest lawyers, but the commissioner-General Pock at Paris contains an announcement o > in London in 1951, the two american exhibits which attracted the greatest attention both came from this State. One was a large pyrfinid, showing the amount of gold that had been taken out of the California mines up to that time, and the other a section of one of our thing. big trees. These were both natural products as nature had formed them. To suggest at that time that within half a century the United States would of iron and cotton and woolen goods, of intricate machinery, of labor-saving de-vices of every kind, besides ranking high in the manufacture of ornamental and viess of every kind, besides ranking high in the manufacture of ornamental and artistic articles, and exporting such goods in ever-increasing quantities to the Old World, would have appeared absurd, and would have aroused a decisive smile. Yet all that and more has been accomplished, and we are as yet only on the threshold. If this sort of thing continues, Uncle Sam will have before long to buy himself a larger hat.

The success thus achieved by the United States at the great Paris show is worth untold millions of dollars to this country, as an advertisement of what we can do. Thousands upon thousands of consumers will for the first time have their attention drawn to the puperfority of American goods, and every branch of industry will profit, from the orchards of California to the machine shops of Pennsylvania. The orders for American goods which have been pouring in from every part of the world during the past two years will be im-ing example of what may be accom-plished along this line. In this connec-tion it should not be forgotten that the most important exposition that there has been in America since the Chicago World's Fair in 1893. It is the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, and it is unique in this, that it is specially devoted to the Western Hemisphere-to that great field of the two America extending from the North Pole to Cape Horn. This expenition will attract thousands of consumers from Europe thousands of consumers from Europe and other parts of the world, whose ap-petite for American products has been whetted by what they have seen at Paris, or what they have read about our displays there.

Let our public-spirited business men see that Southern California is worthly represented at the Buffale abow. We know from experience that the money so expended will be returned to us a hundredfeld.

DRODUCERS AND PROFITS. To judge from a majority of reports that are received, we may expect that the coming citrus-fruit crop of Southern been harvested. There is also an excel-lent prospect for good prices for the product. This is undoubtedly due 20 the fact that the intelligent horticul-turists of Southern California have at length begun to thoroughly realise the necessity for cooperation in disposing of their product, and to appreciate the truth of that good old saying: "In union is interested parties and by paid orga representing those interested parties discredit and discourage the cooperative idea of marketing the horticultural prodacts of California. Such arguments wil ucts of California. Such arguments will not bear even a superficial examination. It is true that some mistakes have been made by the fruit exchanges, which is not to be wondered at, when compara-tively inexperienced men undertake a job of such magnitude. Most of these mistakes have, however, been rectified. Others will be, in good time. All the same mistakes or no mistakes, the cosame, mistakes or no mistakes, the co operative system of marketing Cali ais fruits has without any question bee the salvation of the industry. Remem bering what the condition of the California fruit industry was a few years ago, when it was entirely in the hands of the commission men, it is easy to see where it would have been today had the

In a local publication, the California Cultivator, a fruit grower of the San Gabriel Valley gives some graphic and forcible reasons why he intends to adopt the cooperative system of marketing fruit. He cites a number of striking instances in which fruit growers of this section have had their labor for naught, under the old system. In one case he shipped two carloads of dried fruit, rethe greenhorn from the country is looked at by the bunce sharp—as a "soft thing" to be plucked. Now that the growers have combined for mutual protection, the pluckine process is not so easy a one, and it is not surprising that the commission merchants are disgruntled at seeing their profits so greatly reduced. It is not only in California that the producers are beginning to combine for their mutual benefit in marketing their crops. Away off in Canada the farmers have discovered the benefits of cooperation and have profited greatly thereby. In a recent issue of a Canadian farm paper one of the government officials tells as follows what has been done by erganized effort in the Dominion during the past eight years:

"Eight years age the one Dominion Live Stock Association had a membership of fifteen, and its annual receipts were sys. Now the several associations have about soos members and annual greeipts of $728.455. They include most of the prominent breeders of pure-bred live stock in Ontario. They have been able by united effort to get all pure-bred almans that are registered in records considered reliable by the Department of Agriculture carried at half rates between all points west of Montreal. This has reduced cost of transportation from $30 up to $120 per head, which it was ten years ago, down to from $10 to $12 per head. Since this was 60ns, the trade in breeding stock has gone from practically nothing three years ago to over $500,000 worth in the three years, and they have genowest to British Columbia, to the great Northwest, and east to the Maritime Provinces and Rewfoundiand. They have also obtained a change in quaranting regulations between the United States and Canada, which is said to add $10 per head to the value of the herned cattle in the Deminion."

Again, cooperation have enabled the difference in the application of the consent of the government of the value of the herned cattle in the Deminion."

have associations of horse breeders, cat-tic breeders, sheep breeders, swine breed-ers, poultrymen, dairymen and fruit growers. It is not surprising that Amer-ican farmers are beginning to complain of Canadian competition.

Organization of the rural industries of California should be extended as far This is specially true of the horti-culturists, whose perishable products have to be shipped long distances at a heavy charve for transportation. It is desirable not only in the interest of the desirable not only in the interest of the individual growers, but of a great in-dustry, upon which Southern California largely depends for its prosperity. Every business man is deeply interested in sec-

Our estimened opponents say they are "short" of campaign funds. This poor but honest party makes the same complaint regularly in each campaign, even though it has "money to burn." The thing which the Demo.-Popa are shortest on is good sound common sense.

In 1896, Bourke Cockran declared that Bryan carried in his hand "the flaming torch of Populistic discontent, Populistic agitation and Populistic de tion." No wonder Mr. Cockran's efforts to support Bryan this year gave him acute laryngitis.

Suits to Be Closed Out at Once. This Department is To Be Discontinued. Since the arrival of our new fall suits it has been demonstrated that the space that we are able to give these goods is inadequate to the demands of the line and the department is to be discontinued. Yesterday the entire stock was carefully gone over and every garment reduced to the lowest possible price. Even the very newest and finest suits, which have scarcely seen daylight in Los Angeles share in the reduction.

There is almost every, style of suit you can think of; flare skirts, skirts without flares, slashed skirts and plain skirts, some with trimming and some without.
Blouse jackets, tight fitting waists, half tight fitting waists, double and single breasted and fly fronts.

Our stock of suits was never better or more complete than it is at this moment. The reductions vary from $2.50 to $15.00 and $20.00 on a suit. Of course the assortment will break rapidly under such inducements. Alterations will be made without extra charge, but no suit will be made without extra charge, but no suit will be taken back or exchanged under any circumstances when suit has been purchased at the closing out price. We should think at least 500 women will respond to this before noon today. A little detail concerning prices. Perhaps one suit in 20 of our stock is mentioned.

Suits at $10.00.

There are 40 suits in this lot which sold as recently as yesterday from $12.50 to $16.50; the materials are coverts, cheviots. Venetians and broad-cloths; the colorings are tans, castora, grays, fancy mixtures, reds, blues and black; single and double breasted, some with fly front jackets; jackets are all lined with silk.

SHARDS AND MONEY.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The stock market fell into a condition approaching stagnation during the latter hours of the trading. The undertone was heavy, the dribbling of selling orders finding no support whatever. The trading between the board-room members made up the whole market and, owing to the relative duliness of the gold market, the movement in People's Gas was made up the whole market and, owing to the relative duliness of the gold market, the movement in Popule's Gas was made conspicuous. The pressure sgainst the stock was continued early in the day, but the bears, who have sold the stock continuously for some time past, became disquisted later in the day over the extent of their commitments and a vague suspicion that the gas war in Chicago was not as unrelenting as was made to appear on the surface. The published report that the Ogden company was buying its additional equipment from sources dominated by interests friendly to the People's Gas Company, was the cause. From $1% as the low point, the stock forged steadily upward to $5%, with symptoms of increasing urgency in the buying demand from the short interest. The close was at the highest, with a net gain of $3%. Nothing could more strikingly demonstrate the inertness of the general market than its utter failure to respond to this sensational snovement. The duliness at the close was unrelieved, and the day's changes were mixed and entirely insignificant. The money market showed a rather reactionary tendency. Business in bonds was very small, and price changes irregular. Total sales, $805,000. United States new 4s declined ½ per cent. on the last call.

High School Pupils Return to Their Work—Action of Mass Meeting.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 11.—[Resular Correspondence.] The High School strike is off, and this morning the students returned to their work. During the past two days there have been mass and "indignation" meetings galore, the last of which was held last vening at the pavilion. Including 50 students, there were about 1000 people present. Justice C. L. Thomas called the meeting to order, and Capt. T. J. Wilson was chosen to act as chairman A committee consisting of John Brown Jr., Dr. S. G. Huff, Dr. W. Thompson E. J. Gilbert and A. Horowitz was appointed to decide what should be done after the committee had retired to formulate its report, the crowd called for a speech. Judge Morris responded upholding the students in all they had done, and condemning the rules made by Superintendent Perham and approved by the Board of Education. The committee then reported the following resolutions, which were adopted "Resolved, that it is the canse of this meeting that we heartily approve of the action of the pupils of the High School of the city in resolving to return to such High School on tomorrow at 8 o'clock am., thus showing their desire not to interfere with school interfere with school interfere with school discipline nor to usurp any school authority.

"Resolved, further, that we, the parents of such pupils, and we, the friends of such pupils and of the cause of education do hereby accept the trust reposed in us by such pupils and promise to use our best endeavors to have revoked as soon as possible the obnoxious rule preventing such pupils entering the front door of such High School, "Resolved, that we respectfully urge the Board of Education to investigate the cause of the complaint in the requirements on the part of the superntendent that all students shall pass into the building through the basement, and if there is an injustice or hardship wrought upon the students that the orders be resoinded, and we believe that such resolution should be believe that such resolution should be reschiede.

W. J. Curtis made a ten minutes talk, in which he declared that the student's first duty is obedience, and that if they were properly interested in their work, they would have little time to worry about rules. Short speeches were also made by Messra Manson, Morse, Weir and others.
